THE BRAND FOR EXCLUSIVE WOODEN FLOORS

Healthy Home

Did you know that wood is a healthy material by nature? That a wooden floor in your home creates a healthy living environment? For many people, this is new information, while wood in the home actually contributes to better health.

The entire world is in a transition to greener times. This is necessary for a better future and livable climate for future generations. Environmentally harmful materials and working methods are therefore used less and less. Of course, Cinzento Custom Made® will not stay behind in this regard. Thus, we produce our wooden floors in a sustainable manner. In addition, wooden floors are inherently sustainable due to their long lifespan.

Our wooden floors are made of 100% real wood, hence the 100% Pure Wood section in the Healthy Home logo. A large proportion of our Wooden floors are FSC®-certified, which means that the wood comes from responsibly managed forests.

All these items fall under Healthy Home and are described in detail later in this brochure.

Wood can create a healthy living environment

Healthy Living Environment

We spend 80 to 90% of our lives in enclosed spaces, breathing in all kinds of substances. These substances include harmful substances. It is important for our health to minimise our intake of these, something a wooden floor can help with. After all, a wooden floor ensures less harmful substances in your living environment. Wooden floors have a hard surface that does not allow (harmful) substances to settle. Substances lying on the surface can thus be easily removed.

To ensure that the remaining substances are removed, we recommend the purchase of an air purifier with humidification function. An air purifier cleans the air by trapping dust, allergens and viruses. In addition, proper humidity also ensures good health and preservation of the wooden floor. These air purifiers are available for purchase at our dealers when purchasing a wooden floor.

Sustainable

A wooden floor is a durable product because it has a long lifespan. In fact, a wooden floor can last for decades. Re-sanding and re-treating a wooden floor makes it look like new again.

In addition, wood can be completely recycled. There is a cycle in which the wood from a wooden floor can be used over and over again for all kinds of purposes.

Sustainable entrepreneurship is now more important than ever. Cinzento Custom Made® therefore also produces its exclusive wooden floors sustainably. For instance, the roof of our premises is full of solar panels. This makes us self-sufficient in electricity and allows us to produce in a CO2-neutral way. These solar panels also provide electric cars with a full battery.

We oil our wooden floors with Volatile Organic Compounds (VOC)-free oil and we use water-based varnish. As a result, the wooden floors emit fewer harmful substances. This is important to ensure a healthy living environment.

100% Pure Wood

Wood is a raw material that has been an important part of our existence for a long time. We use it to build, to communicate, to travel, as fuel, for decoration and many other applications.

A wooden floor marked with 100% Pure Wood has only been produced with real, high-quality wood. In addition, we can guarantee that this floor does not come from mass production, but has been carefully treated and checked at various points in the process.

100% Pure Wood forms an important part of "Healthy Home."
Real wood should in fact be chosen to enjoy the benefits.

FSC®-certified

A large proportion of our Wooden floors is FSC®-certified, which means that this wood comes from responsibly managed forests. By responsible forest management, the FSC® aims to preserve forests in habitat and they are committed to the local population. So an FSC® forest remains forest and is not cut down for other purposes such as the establishment of palm oil or soya plantations and mining.

By using FSC®-certified products, you therefore contribute to the global protection of forests and a healthy living environment for people and animals. Wood as a resource is therefore a sustainable solution.

Plank

A wooden floor can be laid in several patterns. The plank pattern is a modern and timeless laying pattern. This pattern is therefore the most commonly chosen. At Cinzento Custom Made®, you can choose from endless variations of a plank floor.

Herringbone

A wooden floor laid as a herringbone is becoming an increasingly popular choice. Whether you live in a house, flat or farmhouse, a herringbone floor suits every style perfectly.

Herringbone can be laid with band and border. The band is the edge that runs around the floor, against the wall. The border is the line between the band and the floor.

Chevron

With the Chevron pattern, wooden planks are laid at a 45 or 60-degree angle. This creates a Chevron pattern. This pattern can also be laid with band and border.

Other patterns

Cinzeno Custom Made® wooden floors can also be laid in other patterns. An example is the Versailles pattern shown here. This pattern is composed of classic wooden tiles with a diagonal weave, surrounded by a square oak frame.

Underfloor heating

There is some confusion about underfloor heating underneath a wooden floor. In our industry, the question comes up regularly: "Can a wooden floor be laid in combination with underfloor heating?". The answer is: "Yes, it can!"

When you glue wood (parquet) directly to a floor with underfloor heating, this combination makes for a very comfortable and energy-saving form of heating.

Many new buildings nowadays have underfloor heating combined with underfloor cooling. This combination is also suitable with a Cinzento Custom Made® wooden floor. Unfortunately, electric underfloor heating is not suitable in combination with a wooden floor.

Sustainable

Lower energy consumption due to lower temperatures in the heating system.

Atmospheric

Warm material with an authentic and unique look.

Comfortable

Underfloor heating under a wooden floor feels extra comfortable.

Maintenance

Every now and then we hear that a wooden floor needs a lot of maintenance. However, this is not true! Wooden floors do not require more maintenance than floors made of other materials.

Wooden floors, like other floors, should be vacuumed regularly. This makes it less likely for dirt to scratch the floor. It is important to use the right maintenance products for cleaning wooden floors. That is why we offer Cinzento maintenance products.

The Cinzento maintenance products are available at your local Cinzento dealer. You can see where they are located on our website.
